Overview of the course:

The Five days Faculty Development Programme is specifically designed to discuss, deliberate and understand the evolving dimensions of legal education and clinical legal education. With covid-19 we have witnessed a massive transformation in traditional classroom setup with introduction of online learning and blended learning techniques. However to ensure that it shall be beneficial, constant engagement to understand different pedagogies is required as quality of any education system is based on the quality of teachers. There is no single universal approach suitable for all situations, and effective teachers use various strategies to support intellectual engagement. Effective pedagogy techniques enable teachers to observe and assess students in context of class room situations which increases the prospects of effective learning. Today many legal education scholars advocated and many university and law school teaching policies demands for a pedagogical approach which emphasized the significance of effective learning by the law teacher and a deep approach to learning by the law students.

Therefore the present programme is designed with purpose to provide a platform to distinguished Scholars/Experts/Academicians and young faculty members where they can share their experiences and learn from the distinguisher's perspectives on concerned topics. The main focus shall be deliberate on the intricacies of research in general and in the field of law in particular while elaborating on some of the dimensions in law.
